Project Development Manual Update

The new Section 1 of the Project Development Manual (PDM) is now available for use at:

https://www.codot.gov/business/designsupport/bulletins_manuals/2013-project-development-manual/sect-1-scoping.pdf

This updated Section 1 contains a range of new content, including direct-to-project charging and universal project naming convention guidance. Sections 2-5 are currently being updated in parallel and are expected to be posted before the end of the calendar year. We are excited to share that the entire PDM, up to Section 8, is anticipated to be released by spring 2024. For your convenience, new sections will be made available as they are completed and can be accessed at:

https://www.codot.gov/business/designsupport/bulletins_manuals/2013-project-development-manual/

Please note that individual Design Bulletins will not be posted with the release of each new PDM section. Instead, updates regarding new sections made available will primarily be communicated through the Area Engineer's newsletter. We plan to release a final Design Bulletin encompassing all the updates from this PDM cycle once the manual is fully updated.
