

Purpose

Use this procedure to create a Performance Document to record a job well done or to document an area for improvement. Once this form is completed by the Supervisor it is routed to the Employee for them to acknowledge. If the Performance Document is being used to document a "Needs Improvement" then a meeting with the Employee should occur prior to the Performance Document being sent to the Employee. The Performance Document is an informal documentation and is not recognized by the Department of Personnel Administration as part of the formal Disciplinary process.

Trigger

Perform this procedure when you want to create a Performance Document to recognize an Employee for a job well done or to document an area that needs improvement.

Prerequisites

- For Performance Documents where an Employee needs improvement a meeting is required explaining why the Performance Document is being created
- There is an informal need to document an employee's actions
